SIDESTREET ROBBERY (Gaffney)

I can't even begin to reason
Why I need to leave
But I know that I must go
And make up my own mind
But it's trying me and it's so hard
And I know I'll have to start thinking differently
If I ever plan to see
What's in the storefront window for my dreams

Worry will get you nowhere
Except a longer stay in your bed
Worry will do you no good
So take a trip out of your head

I've watched and witnessed all your opinion
You care to share what you think is right
For me in this life
Don't you understand I got to take flight
I tend to defend my darkest fears
By only opening up my ears
They always telling me what I need
As the sounds blow through me like a tumbleweed

Worry will get you nowhere
Except a longer stay in your bed
Worry will do you no good
So take a trip out of your head
